PLATFORM

Install and login to the cTrader platform

To use the cTrader platform after creating an account, you can log in using that email and password if you have already registered on cTrader with the same email you used to sign up with the Opofinance broker. However, if you have never registered on cTrader before, after creating an account with Opofinance, you will receive an email from cTrader in addition to the account details. This email will display the ID assigned to your email. Click the Login button in the email and set a password for your cTrader ID. From now on, you can use this credential to log into cTrader.
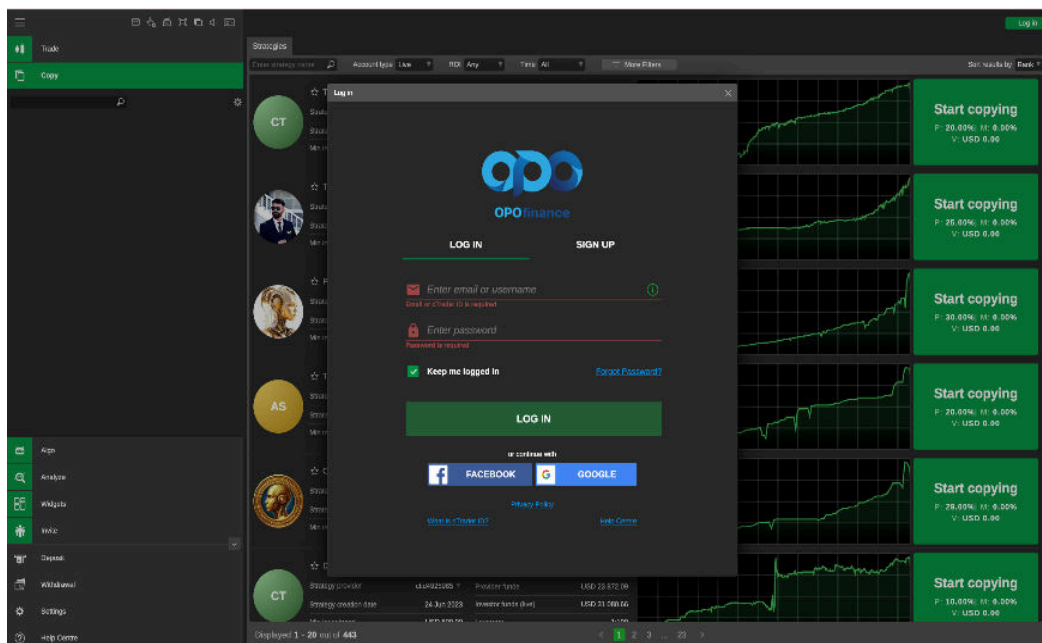

● Setup on Computer:

There are two ways to access the cTrader platform. You can either download and install the application on your Windows operating system or log in directly using the following link: https://app.opofinance.com/

To download and install the platform, follow these steps:

1. In the user panel, navigate to the Download Platforms section from the menu.

2. Select the APPs option.

3. Choose the cTrader platform for Windows.

4. Download and install the application.

5. After installation, launch the cTrader application. The following screen will appear.

6. In the Login section, enter the email you used to register with the Opofinance broker. In the Password field, enter the password you set. Then, click on the Login button. This will log you into your cTrader account. If you forgot your password, you can reset it using the Forgot password option.

7. After logging into the cTrader platform, all your cTrader accounts will be automatically linked to the platform. You can view and switch between your accounts from the top-right section, as shown in the image.
● Setting up cTrader on Mobile:

Please note that the installation and setup process is exactly the same on both Android and iPhone.

1. In the user panel, navigate the Download Platforms section from the menu.
2. Select the APPs option.
3. Choose the cTrader platform for your desired device.
4. Download and install the application.
5. After installation, launch the cTrader app on your mobile. The following screen will appear. Then, tap on Already have cTrader ID to log into your cTrader account.

6. Enter the email you used to register with the broker. In the Password field, enter the password you set.

7. After logging into the cTrader platform, all your cTrader accounts will be automatically linked to the platform. You can view and switch between your accounts from the top left section, as shown in the image.
